DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 15 is objected to because of the following informalities: claim 15 depends on a cancel claim. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

I- In claim 5 the phrase "an insertion groove" (line 2) appears to be double inclusion of the previously recited "an insertion groove" claim 1, line 8.

II- Claim 4 recites the limitation "the circumferential elastic seal projection" in lines 1-2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1,4-9,11-13,15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Noren et al. 5,105,961.

Noren et al. disclose a spout assembly for a liquid container (13) as seen in Figure 2, which comprises a spouting member (11) formed on an outlet of the container; a closer (10) coupled on the spouting member; a male seal structure formed on the spouting member comprising a male seal projection (14) extending from an outer circumference of the spouting member and an elastic seal portion (29) extending from an inner circumference of the spouting member; and a female seal structure formed on the closer as seen in Figure 2, the female seal structure corresponding to the male seal structure as seen in Figure 2 and comprising an insertion groove configured to receive the male seal projection from the spouting member and a lower end outer circumferential surface and circumferential seal wall (26) configured to abut the elastic seal projection of the spouting member thereby sealing the liquid container as seen in Figure 2, a tamper-proof (33) having elastic projections (35), the spouting member having hook projections (36), a guide member (31).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Noren et al. 5,105,961 in view of Hicks et al. 5,839,627.

Noren et al. have taught all the features of the claimed invention except that a straw is inserted in the spouting portion. Hicks et al. teach the use of a straw within a spouting portion (col. 2, ll. 14-23).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the teaching of Hicks et al. onto the spouting portion of Noren et al., in order to allow the product contained therein to be removed.

8. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Noren et al. 5,105,961.

Noren et al. have taught all the features of the claimed invention except that the container is formed of a paper pack or a film pouch.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the container of Noren et al. to be formed of a paper pack or a film pouch, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments filed 12/9/2008 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
